KEYMACRO is a utility to execute Windows macro commands on your Mac and provides some of the missing basic functions of the Microsoft Windows' Notepad/EditPad and Internet Explorer. KEYMACRO creates new Windows-level key sequences that start with the keystroke combination (e.g. Ctrl + Alt + R) and are executed by pressing the appropriate buttons of the keyboard (e.g. the right mouse button) - thereby switching the focus to the appropriate application, invoking the required command or menu option of the selected application. This makes it easier to perform common Windows tasks as opening files, copying and pasting data or selecting and executing scripts. What Is This? This software allows you to enter and execute key combinations at the Windows level. The key combination can be entered from a Mac, and will be executed at Windows level. This means that the script, the command or the application you want to launch will be executed at Windows level. Use Keymacro to make your Mac work like a Windows system To create your own Windows-like key sequences, you can choose your desired key combination in Keymacro, and configure the necessary keyboard shortcuts in the application's preferences window. Keymacro can be used to create key sequences that perform common Windows tasks. You can record your own custom key sequences, switch focus between applications, copy and paste data, execute scripts, open files, search for files, launch specific commands or open specific file types in your preferred text editor. Use Keymacro to Launch Scripts, Commands and Applications on Mac OS X Although most of us enjoy to use a powerful desktop computer, the everyday tasks as preparing a meal, doing the laundry or writing a letter will sooner or later become frustrating if you are forced to use a Mac. With Keymacro, a Mac can work like a Windows system. You can easily perform commonly used Windows tasks such as opening files, executing scripts or commands, copying and pasting data, launching applications, and executing the applications' shortcuts. Keymacro is an easy-to-use tool that lets you easily create key sequences at Windows level, which execute frequently used commands on Mac OS X. Keymacro is a useful application that you can use to create a Windows-like interface for your Mac. Keymacro can be used to create custom key sequences that perform commonly used Windows tasks on Mac OS X. Keymacro is a useful Mac OS X tool that you can use to Toolbar Terminator is an easy-to-use application that quickly scans for toolbars in browsers. No user interface, no buttons, no instructions, just a free tool to keep your browsers clean and safe. It removes toolbars that are inactive, removes Google toolbars and keeps your browser clean and clean. It works on Windows XP, Vista, 7, 8, 8.1, 10, Server 2008, Server 2012, Server 2016 and macOS. * Even toolbars that are removed after a login. (Recommended for Firefox, Chrome, Internet Explorer and Opera.) * Remove Google toolbars from Google Chrome, Mozilla Firefox, Microsoft Edge, Opera, Yandex.Browser, Mozilla Firefox ESR and any other browser that supports Google Toolbar. * Works on all Windows editions. (Recommended for Windows XP, Vista, 7, 8, 8.1, 10, Server 2008, Server 2012, Server 2016 and macOS.) When a new version of Google Chrome is released, people tend to wonder how the new version will look like. So, Google Chrome developers have started introducing new features to the popular web browser. However, every new feature introduced by the developers is not showcased on their official website, or is available only to some users. One of these new features is the data collection, which will help Google with the better search results, content personalization and other similar things. However, there is a high chance that users might not notice the new feature, as it is being collected for the sake of more user-friendly search results. Apart from this, another new feature is the “Password View”, which gives a clear visual representation of your secure passwords. This feature is similar to a password manager that stores your usernames, passwords and other sensitive information. You can simply view the stored data by tapping the little icon. Google Chrome has just released a brand new update, which brings several features to its users. However, as Google Chrome is widely used, it is very likely that its users will not notice these new features right away. Here is a list of the most popular Google Chrome features, which are likely to be introduced by the new update.

Save passwords To save a password, you need to click the menu icon (3 dots in the top right corner) and then select “Settings”. From the new window, you can change the setting for “Save Passwords”. This feature is already available for some users, while for others, it will only be available after the release of the new update.

More control over extensions If you want to control the extensions installed on your browser, you need to click the menu icon (3 dots in the top right corner) and select “Settings”. From this window, you can find many new extensions, including the “Remove extensions” option. Google can also limit the functionality of extensions, but
