What's New in the CrxMouse Chrome Gestures?

CrxMouse is a Google Chrome extension that allows you to increase your browsing efficiency by enabling the mouse gestures. The extension supports rocker gestures, super drag and basic mouse gestures that can be configured with just a few clicks. You can also use this tool by adding custom scripts that will be triggered by a particular gesture. It is entirely customizable add-on that can significantly enhance your browsing experience. Having this app will boost your productivity, and if not, at least make browsing a bit more interesting. You can use a variety of mouse movement combinations and attribute them to different commands, such as using simple mouse gestures, super drag, wheel gestures, rocker gestures, or a combination between any of them. You can either use commands that already come built-in to the browser, or you can customize some of them yourself, depending on your personal preferences. All mouse gestures stored will be shared on all Google Chrome browsers you log on to with your Google account, so you don't have to configure them over and over continuously. You don't need to download CrxMouse. It can be installed into your browser using Chrome Store.Q: Push notifications to iOS app from Firebase I am setting up push notifications in my iOS app using Firebase for the first time. I followed the instructions on the Firebase documentation here: The registration went fine and I can confirm my phone is receiving the token. But when I try to send a message using the code below, I get an exception: NSArray *notificationTypes = @[@"APNS_UNSENT", @"APNS_SENT"]; [application.userInfo setObject:@[@"token", @"v1"] forKey:@"notification.request.body.data"]; [application.userInfo setObject:@"hi" forKey:@"message.body"]; [application.userInfo setObject:@"hi" forKey:@"title"]; [application.userInfo setObject:@"hi" forKey:@"subtitle"]; [application.userInfo setObject:@"hi" forKey:@"user.uid"]; [application.registerUserNotificationSettings:notificationSettings]; [application registerForRemoteNotifications]; The following exception is thrown: Terminating app due to uncaught exception 'NSInvalidArgumentException', reason: 'Invalid PNS token: Bad token length: 36 bytes (00000000 c0 c0 c0 c0 c0 c0 c0 c0 c0 c0)' It's clear I am sending the correct token (as confirmed by the Firebase docs) but
