Psychology is a relatively new science, which is why lots of people don't really know what the subject is or how it's applied in everyday life. To clarify, psychology is the study of all the invisible forces that influence and control our lives. It focuses on people's reactions to their experiences and environment, how they make sense of the world and how they influence each other. And it can help people understand themselves and the world around them. Psychology is used to help people understand themselves and the world around them If you find this fascinating, please do come to one of our forthcoming events. We have talks and workshops which will teach you more about our subject. We also offer study courses and bachelor's degrees in psychology. These traineeships are aimed at anyone who has already completed their A level psychology course and are aiming to further their studies in psychology. Application for our study courses and apprenticeships in psychology is now open. We welcome applications from prospective students who want to learn more about this science. The apprenticeship programme starts in September next year, starting as a part-time one and becoming fully funded with a stipend in June 2019. It is funded by the Science Council, so it should be well-known b
