With HyperMotion, you can see an unprecedented level of detail in every player and pass. You'll see every pass executed by every player in slow motion to get a better sense of how it looks in real-time. More importantly, players can perform their preferred on-ball actions more fluently and comfortably in any situation. For example, you'll notice more realistic movement, and players will be able to perform different types of touches with ease. FIFA's brand new "Player Intelligence" feature accurately models player skill, body size and physicality. This means your opponent will react to your passing and movement according to their player type. For example, when a big, physical defender falls for an easy interception, he'll be hit harder, and trigger a tackle. Likewise, you'll be able to control how your players intercept an opponent's pass. The ball now feels different to the player and creates more realistic artificial intelligence. Changes have also been made to the physics of the ball, making it lighter and more responsive. The new "Dynamic Player Runout" allows players to feint and run away from opponents. As they make runs, the player will make more realistic runs to and from goal. Every defensive and attacking player has a higher goal run out ability, and the AI will follow them while challenging for the ball. Welcome to the new age of FIFA. Now, you can make a pass and see how it interacts with the movement of the ball, all in slow motion. You can now make a step and see the direction of the ball and your entire opponent, all in slow motion. Change directions on the fly and see them come into play, all in slow motion. Jump into the center of the action and be a part of the celebration of the beautiful game. FIFA 22 Gameplay Features: Authentic-Player Motion Capture Every player in the world on FIFA 22 has been scanned in real-time and captured in motion. Whether it's through a motion capture suit worn by players on the pitch, or through your own recorded gameplay, each player will be able to move realistically on- and off the ball. Every pass executed by every player will be made clearer, with more fluidity and physicality. The speed, accuracy, and angle of each player's pass will be perfectly modeled. Passes will also feel more convincing on first

Before the Redskins selected Isaiah Johnson in the third round of the 2019 NFL Draft, the former Colorado State standout had to overcome life's biggest obstacle — his own weight. In 2017, Johnson had a rare, but often fatal, condition called Marfan syndrome, an inherited connective tissue disorder that causes blood vessels to deform in the face and other parts of the body. Doctors placed Johnson on a strict diet to cut his weight down to 220 pounds, and he gained the weight back. Early Wednesday morning, Johnson was able to break the losing streak. He posted pictures of himself on social media, weighing in at 214 pounds and feeling like a million dollars. The rookie out of Colorado State University is feeling so good, he's teaching a class on Marfan's syndrome at the University of Pittsburgh, PittNews.com reports. "I haven't told a lot of people this, but I think I'm probably the heaviest kid on a football team," Johnson told the Post-Gazette. "But I've been having a rough past couple of years with my weight. "I've been on a starvation diet, eating 20 to 25 of the same thing every day, and I've gone back up to 275-plus. I'm trying to show that you can be strong, you can be in good health and not have a lot of weight on you." Johnson, a defensive end, is in his fourth year with the football team and is looking to prove he can be a premier lineman in the NFL.Q: Include third party library with pre-compiled headers In my current
