✔ Organize links in one place ✔ Create new or edit existing shortcuts ✔ Share shortcuts with others ✔ Create new shortcuts with a single press of a button Have you ever noticed that when you look for something online, you open your default browser, browse it, and then search in a tab? If you're like me, it might take a bit longer than it would have taken to just open the browser and search the first time. That's why I created this simple app that makes it a breeze to bookmark websites and search for the exact page you're looking for. To add a shortcut to your homepage, copy and paste the address of your desired website. To find it, search using your keyboard. It's that simple! ✔ Organize links in one place Create a shortcut by pressing the plus sign next to the address, select the template, and search the website to save the shortcut. Don't forget to choose the destination. ✔ Create new or edit existing shortcuts You can edit an existing shortcut, find duplicates, add more than one link, or paste one of your own. ✔ Share shortcuts with others You can share your shortcuts with others. ✔ Create new shortcuts with a single press of a button You can search using just your keyboard. Press the shortcut icon on your desktop to save the shortcut you've just created. No waiting for your browser, no typing in search engines. Shortcuts helps make the internet easier to use. Organize your favorite websites and enable you to instantly access them from the browser, dock, or Menu bar. Does it work with all websites? Yes, it supports any web address, including those that come with your device. You can use it to save sites you frequently visit, as well as smaller sites you want to access from time to time. Why not use Bookmarks? As you most likely know, your browser's Bookmarks page is not meant to keep track of all your URLs, as it doesn't support file saving. Instead, it's meant to help you access websites you regularly visit. For example, it can be a way to quickly find links to social media or stock photography websites. It's also not meant to access smaller websites you want to explore from time to time. Internet Shortcuts (formerly AltTab) is a browser launcher that can replace your taskbar's redundant browser buttons with a single shortcut that launches your most visited websites. Internet Shortcuts helps you manage multiple browser windows without the clutter. An Internet shortcut launches your most visited websites in a single toolbar button. Internet shortcuts can launch any app that supports URI schemes. All you need is a little bit of settings to get started. An Internet shortcut replaces all your browser windows with a single toolbar button that offers a single shortcut to launch your most visited websites. You can organize all your Internet shortcuts in one menu, making it very convenient to open your favorite sites. Plus, Internet Shortcuts supports any URI scheme (simple shortcut), so you can launch anything from the internet, like video, audio, documents, and images. Shortcuts app Review: Launching your browser from the taskbar button has been a thing since forever, and that is why there are so many of them! Internet Shortcuts is the most feature-rich and customizable app among all its counterparts. The purpose of this software is to replace your taskbar button with a desktop shortcut that will launch your preferred web browser. You are provided with the most often used settings and preferences, but the software is also quite customizable, thanks to an easy-to-use interface that provides you with tons of settings. The UI is extremely clean and simple. You can access all the shortcut's settings by simply clicking on the up/down arrows located in the top-right corner. Additionally, you can set the order of the shortcuts, remove the ones you don't need and so on. The software includes the following features: – Add multiple URLs – Edit shortcut's properties and even resize the shortcut's window – Add multiple shortcuts – Launch apps by URL – Quick access to recently used URIs – Resize the browser's window – Shortcuts inside favourites menu – Automatically set the homepage – Quick access to custom shortcuts – Launch favourite websites You can customize almost everything about your shortcuts. For example, you can change the order of the list, remove the ones you don't need or even change the place where the shortcuts are located in the taskbar button. You can choose between the following browsers: Internet Explorer Google Chrome Mozilla Firefox Safari LinkedIn Slack Hyper In the same time, you can add or remove multiple shortcuts at once. Once you press
