

HyperMotion, which has never before been used in a FIFA game, is initially designed to replicate the smoothness and fluidity of a player’s movements when in motion. The feature was also used to help create the new presentation of FIFA on FOX. FIFA Football matches are now fully weather-dependent, and play has been sped up by 25 percent. FIFA 18 introduced “second-screen integration,” an innovation that allows players to access real-time statistics on the second screen, with in-match stats playing a prominent role on the match HUD. “The feature is particularly popular among the coaches, as they can simply tap on a player’s name in the match HUD and get instant access to detailed real-time player data”, added Steve Perrin, VP, Sports Interactive. “And as in-match stats are available on the second screen, they can help make precise tactical decisions.” EA Sports FIFA 17 launched on March 4 on Xbox One, PlayStation 4 and PC. The "The Journey" mode was launched on March 17, the official E3 trailer can be found here. Steve Perrin continues, “After the success of the Real Madrid team on FOX Football, we’re excited to bring our innovations to the Premier League this season and showcase some of the events that matter most to the fans.” “We are really looking forward to the challenge of creating something we know that the fans will love,” added George Blank. “FIFA 18 on FOX is an incredible opportunity for us to showcase our innovation and dedication to the Premier League. We will take full advantage of this chance to demonstrate what we can do as we improve the game on Xbox One and PlayStation 4 as we move forward.” The above trailers feature two brand new moments from the Fox Sports FIFA launch. Look out for FIFA 18 on FOX in September 2017. Visit www.FIFA.com/FIFA18FOX to learn more and stay in the loop for news and announcements from FOX and EA. "The Journey" mode allows FIFA players to re-live Premier League history from a start in 2006/2007 to the present day. The mode gives players access to the full authentic set of team-first-team-first players, their friends and support staff, and the unique challenges that come with being a club. Featuring improved AI, new player animations and graphics
